Description	Some of the students from the Department of Lifelong Learning and Extension (DLLE) participated in a street

	play in Mithibai College campus. The students performed a thought-provoking play based on civic sense and gender sensitization. The unique aspect of the performance was the reversal of gender roles. The play portrayed situations where boys experienced the kind of bias, harassment, and social restrictions that are commonly faced by girls in everyday life. Through this role reversal, the performance effectively highlighted the emotional and psychological impact of such behavior. The street play used impactful dialogues, expressions, and real-life scenarios to engage the audience and convey its message. It encouraged viewers to reflect on their attitudes and actions, promoting empathy and a deeper understanding of gender-based issues in society. The performance was held at the Mithibai College campus grounds and attracted a significant audience, making it an interactive and impactful awareness activity.
Conclusion/ Outcome	The street play was successful in sensitizing the audience towards issues of gender bias and civic responsibility. It created awareness in an engaging and relatable manner, encouraging individuals to be more empathetic and respectful in their behavior. The activity also enhanced students' confidence, teamwork, and communication skills.
